KEEP MUM ON A BIG BLIND LOAN

Thomas J. Jordan Refused To Give Information Regarding Item Of $685,000 Standing On The Bank
Books, And Is Dismissed.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE]

New York, July 20.—Thomas D. Jordan, comptroller of the Equitable Life Assurance society, has been summarily removed from office by Chairman Paul Morton because he refused to furnish information regarding that $685,000 blind loan standing against the Equitable society on the books of the Mercantile Trust company.

The loan stood in the names of Jordan and James W. Alexander as trustees until a few days ago, when the state authorities ordered that it be taken up by the society.

Jordan is to be succeeded, temporarily at least, by William A. Day, who was the auditor of the United States treasury for four years when Grover Cleveland was president, and who at present is assistant attorney general of the United States.

Mr. Day probably will enter upon his new duties at once, although his resignation, when accepted by the president, may not take effect until September 1.

Cleveland Picks New Man.

Mr. Day, it is suggested, may have been the choice of former President Cleveland, of whom Mr. Day has been a personal friend for many years, and he is personally well known to Chairman Morton. Mr. Day was formerly a special attorney for the interstate commerce commission, and since his appointment in the department of justice has been closely identified with the litigation of the federal government against the railroads and against the western beef packing interests.

Mr. Jordan has been in the service of the Equitable for many years. He was comptroller for almost ten years. He was receiving a salary of $35,000 a year. He was one of the few directors of the old board who qualified through the actual ownership of five shares of the society's capital stock. He was a member of the executive committee of the board of directors, but undoubtedly will lose his place on that committee, if he remains on the directorate, which is thought unlikely.

Will Sue Directors.

Attorney General Mayer is going to bring suit against every member of the Equitable's old board of directors to compel an accounting of their management of the society's funds. That

Argument Commenced in Topeka,
Kansas, Today—Bank Can Pay
Dollar for Dollar.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Topeka, Kans., July 20.—Argument was begun today in the United States Circuit Court in the appeal of the creditors of the National bank, of Kansas City, to have Charles J. Delvin, principal owner of the institution's stock, declared a bankrupt. This action was taken in the hope of preventing any further attachments of Delvin property and to set aside real estate valued at $700,000, which Delvin has transferred to the bank. Mr. Delvin's business associates declare that he is far from being bankrupt, however, and insist that the bank will be enabled to pay its creditors dollar for dollar. The state of Kansas had a half million dollars on deposit in the bank.

MET IN PALACE OF THE PRINCE

Delegates To The Zemstvos Gather In Moscow
Despite the Orders Of The Police.

WILL DEMAND A NEW CONSTITUTION

Discusses Plans Of Government Modeled On The Same Lines As Germany And Great Britain
Limited Monarchies.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE]

Moscow, July 20.—Defying Gen. Trepoff and the autocracy, 225 delegates to the zemstvos congress met Wednesday at the palace of Prince Dolgorouki to take the preliminary steps to secure a constitution and a parliament from the czar.

Intense interest attaches to the congress, for it has been rumored that under the lead of Prince Dolgorouki it would propose the immediate abdication of the czar and the government of Russia by a regency until the infant son of Nicholas reaches his majority.

Prince Dolgorouki, although an aristocrat, an immensely wealthy man, and the marshal of the Moscow nobility, is one of the leaders of the liberal party in Russia. He opposes revolution, but declares there must be an end to the bureaucracy. He favors a constitution and a definitely limited monarchy of the German or British order, with a parliament.

Will Demand a Parliament.

The congress is to discuss a plan of government for Russia modeled upon the British or German systems. Its principal features are:

1. The czar to retain the right to veto all legislation, without any expressed limitation of his prerogatives as a sovereign. He is to retain command of the army and navy.

2. A cabinet on the British model, with a kanzler or prime minister at the head; the prime minister to be summoned by the czar and to select the cabinet ministers.

3. A parliament of two chambers of 840 members to be elected; representing the whole empire without regard to creed or race.

4. Legislation to rest with parliament alone; in the event of persistent rejection in one chamber of a bill initiated in the other, a joint assembly of both to settle it.

5. National finances are placed under control of the chambers, whose members will have the right to impeach the ministers.

6. The budget to be passed first by parliament, then accepted by the zemsky sobor, before it is presented to the czar.

Succession to Throne.

7. Parliament to have right to fix the succession to the throne and to fix sovereign's civil list at beginning of his reign.

8. The constitution abolishes the passport system, the secretary of correspondence and the censorship.

9. The sanctity of the courts is provided for by special clauses.

10. The czar is prohibited from arbitrarily dissolving parliament.

11. Members of parliament are prohibited from accepting decorations or orders from the sovereign without immediately seeking re-election.

Trepoff Ready to Crush Congress.

Gen. Trepoff will stop the discussions of the zemstvos congress if it becomes too radical. The fact is so well known that the delegates already admit that the congress will be able to accomplish little.

M. Golovine, president of the organizing committee, had barely started a statement dealing with the obstacles placed in the way of the congress, announcing that Gov. Gen. Kozloff had promised that there would be no recourse to extreme measures, when it was announced that the police were below with an order to disperse the meeting.

Prince Dolgorouki suggested they be invited to enter. Five police officers thereupon appeared. Their chief demanded that the assembly be closed in accordance with the prefect's order forbidding such meetings, on the ground they were calculated to produce disorder.

Laugh at Order to Disperse.

This statement was greeted with laughter. Count Heyden pointed out that the meeting was acting with the czar's authority, as personally expressed by his majesty on June 19, and he therefore refused to obey the order.

Some more hot-headed delegates shouted taunting remarks. Prince Dolgorouki interposed, saying:

"The policemen are only doing their duty. Let us do ours and proceed to business without wasting any time."

Count Heyden protested against the proceedings, but the chief of police began taking the names of the delegates. Then cries were raised of "Write down the whole of Russia."

Many persons present who were not delegates to the congress requested that their names also be taken. The police then departed in order to draw up summonses and the business was resumed.

For some time past he has been paying attention to Mrs. Fishman's 15-year-old daughter. The Fishmans forbade him the house and three weeks ago had him arrested for attempting to force his way in. Yesterday he forced his way into the Fishman home and when Mrs. Fishman tried to eject him he drew a revolver and shot her in the abdomen.

WHITE ANTS ON THEIR WAY WEST

PEST FROM EAST FOLLOWING ADVISE OF HORACE GREELEY.

INSECTS EAT THROUGH WOOD

Cannot Be Discovered Until They Have Completed Their Destruction—Disastrous Results.

No, the white ants have not come to Janesville yet, but their noisy red and black cousins have been more active. None of the white ants has been sighted on route hither, but here is the gist of recent letters coming from the United States department of agriculture which show that they are coming. The white ants are spreading westward, striking from Detroit to Chicago on the one side, and from Chicago to Buffalo on the other. They seem to be sweeping up from the south, increasing in numbers as they come. It is probable that the countless insects which have caused almost inconceivable destruction in Central and South America are planning a great migration, or have already begun one.

The destructive little insects are already reported in Detroit, Cincinnati and Buffalo.

Two men have met death in Cleveland from the work of the "termites," as the ants are scientifically called. The ceiling of the Upton nut and bolt works building fell not long ago. When the frightened employees returned to the building after the crash, they found the crushed bodies of two of their fellows in the ruins.

"White ants ate through the ceiling supports," said Professor Oldenbach, the government entomologist at Cleveland after the disaster. "White ants have spread through every ward in this city and many other accidents lately are from the same cause. And they will be more."

Through the middle west states east of the Mississippi, buildings are falling here and there, furniture is crumbling and slow destruction is going on in many things in which wood has been used. Many people do not know the cause of all this. Some hysterical victims consider the accidents the manifestation of Divine wrath. But scientists unemotionally lay it to the white ants.

In extreme cases buildings, architects and biologists give but one preventative against the scourge. And that is fire. This cure is acknowledged to be almost as bad as the evil it is designed to prevent, but modern science has as yet found no other antidote. To wage such a fight would cost Illinois more than Massachusetts has spent in its fight against the gypsy moth or the southern states against the boll weevil.

There is only one other hope for the destruction of the pest while summer lasts. That is, they may be killed off by other insects and birds, as they have many enemies. But what householder would want to have a war of insects conducted in his home for the purpose of getting rid of one of the combatants?

It is the way in which the "termites" works that makes it one of the most insidious scourges known to civilization.

It may be that only a queen infests a building. She comes unnoticed, seeking wood and darkness, burying herself during the day and traveling at night. Soon she comes to a house, and begins gnawing her way into a foundation post.

With a faint scraping sound the pincers of the solitary insect move to and fro across the surface. Particle by particle the wood is eaten, and gradually the body of the worker disappears into the piece attacked.

As the queen eats, she passes the excretion behind her and this she consumes time after time until the only trace of the wood removed is an almost imperceptible powder which may be blown away by the lightest wind.

Every day for weeks the queen brings into the world about 85,000 eggs, which quickly hatch. Gradually the colony advances, eating to the very surface, but never penetrating to the outside.

Except the outer shell and the nails or bolts with which the timber is held in place the ants eat everything.

There is only one sort of wood in all the world that can withstand the appetite of the white ant. It is called "leak wood."

Nine of the twenty-five varieties of termites are found in America, which is more than in any other country. There are apparently hard-bound social restrictions among the white ants as they are headed by a king and queen; the only winged members of the race. There are also workers and soldiers. In Africa they build mounds, sometimes twelve feet high, but the northern species live in old logs and under stones.

FALLING HAIR STOPPED.

Baldness Cured by Destroying the Parasitic Germ That Causes It. Baldness follows falling hair, falling hair follows dandruff; and dandruff is the result of a germ digging its way into the scalp to the root of the hair where it saps the vitality of the hair. To destroy that germ is to prevent as well as cure dandruff, falling hair, and, lastly, baldness. There is only one preparation known to do that. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new, scientific discovery. Wherever it has been tried it has proven wonderfully successful. It can't be otherwise, because it utterly destroys the dandruff germ. "You destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

For the professionals who attend the meet and take part in the shooting a special fifty bird race will be held. Labor Notes

At the present time the New Zealand Government is employing 4018 artisans and laborers in government co-operative works.

Delegates from the Machinists' union of California to the coming convention of the International Association of Machinists, to be held at Boston in September, will endeavor to secure the adoption of a plan for the reduction of the hours of labor in Eastern shipyards from ten to nine per day, so as to conform to conditions on the Pacific coast.

The Sydney (New South Wales) Labor Council recently passed the following resolution: "That the principle of trades-unionism is outraged if a union member accepts employment at any other trade unless he becomes a member of the union of that calling."

The press of San Francisco and vicinity is united in support of the Allied Printing Trades' refusal to return to the nine-hour day, as proposed by the local Typothetae. Owing to division in the ranks of the employing printers, it is thought that the effort to go back to the nine-hour day will not be seriously undertaken.

Edward J. Lynch of Brooklyn, president of the International Union of Polishers, Buffers and Metal Workers of North America, has been succeeded by A. B. Groat of Kenosha, Wis.

Theatrical Stage Employees' International Alliance held its annual convention at Pittsburgh, Pa., July 9.

Sweat Shop tailors in New York want shorter hours, asserting that they make only $10 a week, and have to work ten hours a day, despite a promise last year of nine and one-half hours. A strike of 50,000 tailors is threatened.

Peace was declared this spring among the building trades in New York City and the result is that $250,000,000 will be expended there in new structures this season.

Brewery coopers of New York city are on strike. They ask a reduction in hours of from nine to eight, and an advance in wages from $18 and $20 to $21 and $22 a week. Journeyman brewers and drivers, firemen and engineers have contracts with the brewers and will not strike in sympathy.

Boston (Mass.) Central Labor Union, by an overwhelming majority, recently voted not to enter politics, and denounced by disuniting influence of politics in trades unions.

Some months ago it was thought that colliery strikes would be avoided to a large extent, but experience has not borne out the anticipation.

Of 1,500,000 railway workers in the United States it is said that 1,000,000 are unorganized.

What Every Housekeeper Needs to Know.

When I get an earnest appeal from a busy, energetic housekeeper asking if I can tell her how to do less sweeping and saying that the sweeping tires her so, and that the dust hurts her lungs, I can read between the lines that she needs to take care lest she will make an invalid of herself. I do not recommend the carpet sweeper to delicate women, because it is such a laborious article and even when it is used every day, the carpet will still need a thorough sweeping now and then with the broom. You ask about sweeping less. It can surely be done, but there is the greatest difficulty in brooms, and this is due to the way they are used. One that is used every day should be washed once a week in borax water, then dip the broom up and down in hot borax suds until the straw is hot clean and new. Rinse well and hang up to dry and you have a new broom again. This toughens the straw so that they will not break easily. If the broom is dampened often it will not raise a cloud of dust, or a better plan is to sprinkle the carpet every morning with coarse salt. It cleans the carpet beautifully and settles the dust. Open the windows and doors and sweep with firm quick strokes. That will clean the carpet without injuring it. Wait until the dust settles. One such sweeping a week will suffice if you are careful. "KENTUCKIENNE."

SILVER GRAY DUKINS FROM SCOTLAND COMING

Alex. Buchanan Becomes a Poultry Fancier and Prepares to Surprise Colleagues.

Alex. Buchanan, who bought the McVicar stock of fine poultry some time ago and is now a chicken enthusiast, placed an order in Scotland some time ago for shipment of silver gray dukins and the consignment is now reported to be on its way to this country aboard the steamer Caledonia. These will be the first specimens of the breed to make their home in Janesville, and local fanciers are awaiting their arrival with interest. The seasons has been a bad one for many poultry raisers in this locality, an unusually large percentage of the little chickens dying for some unaccountable reason.

TOO MUCH RAIN, BUT GOOD CROPS

AGRICULTURAL SECRETARY TRUE MAKES PROMISING REPORT.

DISCUSSES HAY HARVEST

States Conditions of This Much Mooted Crop as Reported to Him—Hot Weather Liked.

John M. True, secretary of the state board of agriculture, has issued his monthly state crop report for July. From information he has received from his correspondents throughout the state he announces that notwithstanding the unusual number of rainy days during the past month and the excessive amount of rain which fell, the crops of the state are in a generally favorable condition and prospects for a good production are encouraging. The report follows: "The month ending July 15 was especially notable for its number of rainy days, as much as for the excessive amount of rain that fell. The weather also was almost universally cold. Nevertheless crops, as a whole, have made excellent growth since our last report, and are generally in a healthy, thriving condition. The most discouraging feature of farm operations was the hindrance to securing the large hay crop, and the loss in value of the crop from the inability to secure it in its proper state of growth.

"No good hay weather occurred in the northern division of the state before the 9th of the present month, and in the central and southern divisions before the 12th. Up to this time about one-fourth of the tame hay crop of the state had been cut. Much of this was practically ruined, and very little of it was secured without decided loss. Much of the tame grass now standing, especially clover, is over ripe, and has lost a considerable percentage of its feeding value. Should the warm fair weather of the past few days continue for a week, much of the remaining crop will be secured, as its ripe condition enables it to be rapidly cured. Marshes are generally too wet for cutting, and with the loss of tame hay already met, there is no question but that good hay will bear satisfactory prices before another crop grows.

Pastures Good. "Conditions have been favorable for pastures and they are reported in excellent shape. Live stock is thriving, and dairy interests continue to boom. Winter grains are now being cut, and the prospective yield is good. There is little complaint of rust in spring grains—the greatest danger being from overgrowth and lodging in oats. Spring wheat is not as satisfactory a crop this season as winter wheat, which is fine. Barley is ripening nicely, some fields having already been cut. Notwithstanding the unfavorable outlook for corn last month—and the absence of typical corn weather since, the crop has flourished remarkably, and is now close up to normal conditions. Early planted fields are already tasseling, and later fields growing rapidly. The outlook for this crop is now much better than at the same time of season in any of the past three seasons.

Potatoes Not Promising. "The condition of the potato crop is not especially promising. Much seed has rotted, and the replanted fields are late and the stand uneven. The reports from the potato belt of the state give a percentage of about 80. Tobacco is unusually small, but there is a good stand and the plants are growing rapidly. The season has not been favorable for the cultivation of sugar beets, and much hand work has been necessary in weeding. Peas have been injured by excessively rainy weather, and do not promise a full crop. Small fruits now maturing are an excellent crop of good quality.

Many Apples Lost.

"Apples are falling badly, and it is difficult to predict the extent and quality of the crop at this time. During the past month a severe hail and wind storm did extensive damage to crops, buildings, windmills, etc., in portions of Crawford, Grant, Iowa, and Dane counties, but the loss was not sufficient to materially affect crop percentages from those counties.

"The following tables of percentages are the results of reports received from our correspondents: "Southern division—Wheat, 97; rye, 102; oats, 100; barley, 97; potatoes, 105; corn, 91; potatoes, 80; tobacco, 98; sugar beets, 95; peas, 97; apples, 74; small fruits, 100."

WILL SOON BEGIN RAISING OF ROOF

Preparations for That Work on Franklin Street Building of Machine Company About Complete.

Building operations at the plant of the Janesville Machine company are now at their height. On the Franklin street structure much work has already been done preparatory to raising the roof and converting the building into a two-story shop. The windows at the south end of the building, which formerly were low, have been raised to a height uniform with the largest number in the building, and the two doorways, one on Franklin and the other on Pleasant, have been closed. The walls have been braced from the interior and a scaffolding built on the outside. Eugene Fish, who is to raise the roof, will soon commence work. For the addition to this part of the plant, which will be built on the east side, in the court between the building and railway tracks, the foundation is nearly finished. The excavation work for the foundation to the foundry addition on River street, between the avenue and the river has been done and the laying of the stone commenced.

ONE-PIECE DRESS FOR THE SCHOOLGIRL.
Those smart shepherd checks are eminently suitable for small girls' wear, and the wear-resisting mohair offer a solution to the question of practical as well as stylish dressing for the youngsters. The one-piece Russian suit is one of the prettiest that have been presented for a long time, the straight and unbroken lines, with a smart shiny-leather belt around the waist, being equally becoming to both plump and slender child-hood alike. The one pictured is in a brown and white check; broad box pleats both back and front, the fastening effected under the center one in the back. The sleeve is a loose puff caught into a cuff at the wrist, and the whole dress is made up unlined. The detachable linen collar and cuffs are hand wrought with buttonholed edges, and a welcome touch of color relief is afforded in the brilliant scarlet cravat that is threaded through the collar and the leather belt of the same color that is passed loosely around the hips.

...Forty Years Ago...

Jansville Daily Gazette, Thursday, July 20, 1865.—An Escaped Convict From Rock County Kills Himself While Resisting an Officer.—The Madison papers give an account of an attempt to arrest and the death of a fellow named Wm. Earle, who was sent to Waupun from this county three years ago, but who escaped last February and has been engaged since then in horse stealing and other kindred rascallies. It seems Sheriff McDougall, of Dane county, tread his game, at the Union House, near Madison, and taking a posse went to arrest the rascal and his associates. Earle threatened to shoot and in the scuffle which ensued the pistol which he held in his hand exploded, killing him instantly.

P. S.—Since writing the above we have conversed with a gentleman conversant with the history of the criminals sent from Rock county within the last year, and they say Earle should be credited from Lafayette and not Rock county.

Loomis is to be permitted to retire before fall and the rumor that plans for a congressional investigation of his case at the next session are on foot.

When calm has been restored in Russia the czar, it is said, will undertake reforms. With the imperfect vision we have at this distance, it would seem a long time to wait.

By the time the government gets through vindicating the reputation of the isthmus it will have that locality pictured in the popular imagination as one of the beautiful and salubrious spots on earth.

Secretary Shaw discovered an unexpected stringency in the circulating medium the other day when a haughty hotel cashier refused to cash his check.

If all cable communication with St. Petersburg could be cut off for the next few weeks Witte probably would feel more confident of the success of his mission.

John W. Gates, being a man of iron nerve, has emitted no shriek of alarm over the competitive speed with which the man from Death valley lets go of his money.

Germany's emperor has a great chance to keep even by sending out an arctic expedition on a boat to be named the Kaiser Wilhelm.

PRESS COMMENT.

Rockford Register-Gazette: The Country club probably is of the opinion today that Rockford prefers its Shakespeare in small doses and indoors.

Appleton Crescent: This is the season of the year when the frugal man's wife invests all his winter's savings at the summer resort.

Chicago Record-Herald: A New York doctor claims to have solved the problem of perpetual motion, but Edison is still working on his horse-must-go battery.

Marion Advertiser: Some people these hussling days possess a little human kindness but most of them keep it bottled and corked up.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Barber Henn of Kansas City has asked the legislature to change his name. If he will promise to quit cackling his customers will doubtless warmly support the petition.

Green Bay Gazette: A census of the richest men in the world places John D. Rockefeller fourth in the list. But John D. will rectify that by the time the next census is taken.

Hudson Star-Times: Miss Fola La Follette is a "chip of the old block" and will soon rival her distinguished father in fame. She is a rising star as an actress, has been elected daughter of a Boer regiment and has declined a railway pass from Madison to New York.

Chicago News: There is a moral in the story of John D. Rockefeller's life, and that is not to get so much money that the twilight will be turned on you all the time. The prudent man will heed the warning and stop when he has accumulated something like $100,000,000.

Evening Wisconsin: The mobbing at Audubon Beach, New York, of a man who rocked a boat until it capsized and "ducked" a party of girls, ought to warn the foolish young men who at times try to play "Smart Alec." Those who want to "fool" in a boat should go out alone.

La Crosse Leader-Press: It is gratifying to learn that the latest reports of wards in the local census either show an increase or a much smaller decrease than first feared and it is now more than probable that the complete returns will give La Crosse a population in the neighborhood of 30,000 people.

Antigo Journal: W. F. Nash, the veteran editor of The Two Rivers Chronicle, makes a plea for a state board of examiners for those entering the newspaper profession in the last issue of his paper. There are examining boards for doctors, lawyers, teachers, dentists, druggists, barbers, etc., so why not add a state board of editorial examiners?

Rockford Register-Gazette: Now that "Billy" Sunday has denounced Elbert Hubbard as "a carbuncle on the shoulders of society and a damage to the human race, whose inspiration comes from the devil," the price of Hubbard's literary efforts will probably take an immediate jump.

Boston Transcript: Norway has shown poor judgment in offering the kingship to an impetuous Danish princeling when so many American millionaires would have been glad of the job. Mr. Carnegie, who, like most Scotchmen, almost certainly has Viking blood, would have showered libraries, museums, pension funds and golf courses on the whole country from Bergen to the Cape.

Milwaukee News: It is announced at Oyster Bay that Dr. John Hicks of Oshkosh has been chosen by the president to serve the United States as its ambassador to the republic of Chile. Dr. Hicks is an experienced diplomat and besides the training he has received in the diplomatic service is peculiarly fitted for the post to which he has been named. As editor of the Oshkosh Northwestern, Dr. Hicks has been a forceful figure in the politics of the state.

Eau Claire Leader: It is high time for the citizens of Eau Claire to pull as one man in one direction. There is nothing to be gained, but a great deal to be lost by one element, rendering futile the best efforts of another. Why is it that if one of our residents happens to make a good suggestion and one that would benefit the city if carried out immediately has that suggestion belittled and made fun of to such an extent that the originator becomes ashamed to acknowledge the paternity of the idea, and betakes himself to the tall timber with revenge ranking in his heart, where he awaits the opportunity to turn the tide of ridicule and sarcasm upon his luckless neighbor?

La Crosse Chronicle: Time for the wedding band to go. He has become too bold, as well as too numerous. A Turkish taxgatherer could not lord it more unfeelingly over his victims. At Pittsburgh he recently hauled a newly wedded couple around in a circus cage. Elsewhere he ties trunks and carriages with gaudy ribbons or plasters them with signs. He covers homes and railway seats with inscriptions, sometimes of doubtful humor. By way of change he occasionally kidnaps the groom, makes the couple lose a train, or leads them around like wild animals to the delight of vulgar observers. Such antics are barbarous. They throw discredit on the marriage ceremony just performed and bring the relation of wedlock into contempt. With divorce so common everything possible should be done to increase public respect for marriage.

To the Gazette: I have waited patiently to see something appear in your paper correcting the idea that the street superintendent is responsible for the condition of South Main street and the property adjacent to the park. I am sure no injustice was meant Mr. Sennett, but his friends think that the blame should be laid where it belongs, with the aldermanic committee. The paving work on South Main street has not yet been accepted and until it is they will not allow Mr. Sennett to clean up, clear the street of refuse and rubbish and the sand. JANESVILLE LAWYER
FILES HIS ACCOUNTS

William Ruger, Senior, Files His Report of Fees During Last Legislative Session.

William Ruger of Janesville was the oldest lobbyist to appear before the last session of the legislature, and yesterday a statement was filed with the secretary of state showing that Mr. Ruger was paid $1,329.80 for his services and personal expenses by the Eau Claire Deeds Improvement company, which company employed him to represent it in the long and bitter fight over the bill to enlarge the franchise of the Eau Claire dam. Mr. Ruger is one of the oldest lawyers in the state and was allowed during the legislative session to sit while making his lengthy arguments before the committees on state affairs of the senate and assembly. The company was successful in getting a law enacted satisfactory to the rival interests, largely through the work of the Janesville attorney. This fight over the Eau Claire dam was the most bitter of the entire session, but its bitterness was largely local in character and therefore did not attract as wide attention as less fierce struggles over matters political.

CITIZEN TALKS ON DIVERS SUBJECTS

Communication from Esteemed Fellow Townsman on Matters of Local Interest.

Mr. Editor: The anti-spit ordinance is fairly well obeyed. No sane man will violate it intentionally, but many loyal, law-abiding men will transgress at times. All will get educated to the observance of the ordinance soon. The officers use intelligent patient discretion in the matter of arrests. The officials of the First National bank must appreciate the fairly good ridance of loafers on their building front.

By the way, while we shall not find fault or criticize, but maybe our skin is too thin and it might be said that "Citizen" is getting mighty particular. It cannot be said that he is getting "old and rosey" because there is nothing in it to him. It does annoy his sense of the fitness of things. The infraction of decorum at the C. & N. W. Ry. passenger station on the arrival of passenger trains—the war cry, or yelling, "Carriage for—!" "This way for—!" "Carriage!" "Carriage!"—is simply a fright—annoys passengers and timid ladies. It is a loud torment to any person's nerves. It is thoughtlessly done and permitted. No such decorum is practiced at the C. M. & St. P. passenger station. The bus men are responsible for this racket, but someone should be responsible for its abatement. This is local but not personal. The courteous, quiet, gentlemanly-appearing bus-man will be the most attractive.

In our last note to you we made mention of the G. A. R. becoming the guests of the Chautauqua association on the 28th inst. at the reception to Mrs. Logan by the G. A. R. and W. R. C. An error except in at that time, but no harm done, we hope. The invitation for the occasion noted is extended to the soldiers of the war of the great rebellion, and the Spanish war, with their wives—not with the wives and families as we stated. The G. A. R. men, as we are informed, will be much pleased to join with all to do honor to the grand, good widow of the great warrior and statesman, General John A. Logan, whose memory thrills the heart of all with patriotism.

The 28th will add another eventful day to the Bower City. By the way, it might be thought by some that the writer has a deal to say about the G. A. R. but their thinking will do no harm. We do esteem the soldiers of the "late war" very highly. With all their faults, we love them still, not so much for what they are but for what they have done, and besides, we look about our good city and observe that among the very best of citizens are soldiers. Now, mark it, a good soldier, who has served under the banner of Christ, or of his country, makes a good citizen. The most obnoxious among our people can observe during their incomes and outgoings on our streets, as in soldiers even here and there, can decide quickly whether he was a good soldier in any cause.

Very sincerely yours,
"CITIZEN."

Madison Journal: Gov. La Follette's chautauqua addresses this year carry much of the old material with significant attacks on congress. Doubtless that is the next body he proposes to purify. He speaks pleasantly of the president. Gov. La Follette says he will try railway control by commission, and if that doesn't work he wants municipal ownership.

A 12 PER CENT. INVESTMENT

We are offering for sale 25000 shares treasury stock of the

Sibley Oil Company

At 50 Cents Per Share, Par Value $1.00.

This stock now pays dividends of 1 per cent. every second month, or 12 per cent. on the investment. The reason for the offer is to further develop the property of the Sibley Oil Co., which consists of 560 acres of proven oil territory in Jay and Wells Counties, Indiana, and within two miles of the property from which J. M. Bostwick, D. W. Kimball and La Fayette McWilliams have received large dividends.

11 WELLS IN OPERATION

The Sibley Company have 11 wells in operation, which produce oil to the amount of about $1200 per month, and it is the desire of the company to drill 7 additional wells, which will in all probability double the production of oil.

There will be no expense connected with the additional wells as the property is thoroughly equipped with engines, towers, tanks, power houses, pumpers' houses, etc. The power installed at the present time is capable of pumping 20 additional wells; the Sibley Company propose only 7 new wells at present.

ROOM FOR 90 WELLS.

The 560 acres belonging to the company is a unique block in that it is proven oil territory in a remarkably rich belt and also that it is the largest block in that field. Tested acreage is very scarce. There is room for 90 wells in the tract.

EVERY SHARE SOLD FOR 50c. None of the 80000 shares sold thus far have gone for other than cash—none for promotion purposes. No salaries are paid to any stockholders or officers of the company with the exception of the Field Manager who lives on the property of the company and devotes his entire time to its affairs. The 25000 of treasury stock now offered is to be used as before stated, for the drilling of additional wells. This leaves 95000 shares still in the treasury where it will remain unless further development is considered.

Earn 1 Per Cent a Month==With the 7 new wells amount to 1 per cent a month or 24 per cent on the investment. Only 25000 shares will be sold at 50c per share. A big opportunity to secure a present dividend payer with an excellent chance of its becoming a wealth maker shortly. Address, call or telephone

Baseball Of Past And Present

How the Game Has Progressed --- Bunt Hitting
Has Revolutionized Batting --- Lajoie and Wagner Stars With the Stick.

Talkative "fans" like nothing better than to spend hours in comparing baseball of the present day with that of the past. They take especial delight in describing changes, either for better or for worse, that have occurred in the national game.

An interesting comparison is that of modern and old time batting. Lajoie of the Cleveland Americans is universally conceded to be the star batter of the present period. Taken all in all, Anson of Chicago was unquestionably the best batter, year after year, of the seasons in which he was one of the most active players on the diamond. But would Anson fit in as well now as Lajoie, and would Lajoie have been an Anson had he lived in the latter's time.

Frankly, the answer seems to be that either man would have been a baseball star, no matter when he lived. Both are of the type of free hitters. Neither was an artificial batter. Anson, possessed of a true eye, would make the pitcher place the ball where it could be batted and often would reach out and hit safely when least expected to do so, and Lajoie is exactly that type of batter.

Never but once in his life did Anson have a batting average in a season of less than 300 per cent. Year after year since Lajoie has been a professional he has been placing 300 averages to his credit.

The greatest hitter in the National league at the present time is Hans Wagner, the Pittsburgh shortstop. Were his temperament more phlegmatic he would be even more a star.

It is unquestionably true that the style of batting has changed greatly within the past ten years. The introduction of the bunt hit has modified largely the old theory of smashing hard at the ball and trying to drive it to the farthest corner of the field, a practice universally in vogue in the old days.

It is required now of a batter to be successful in a method of play much in vogue among managers. He must be able to tap the ball softly just in front of the plate in order to advance the base runner and trust by fleetness of foot to beat the throw to first base. Like all other evolutions in the game, this was combated fiercely by the old timers, but when it was seen that scientific work of this character was winning games against the former method of hitting hard and free, the older men had to succumb to the inevitable, and most of them by practice have succeeded in becoming very expert bunters, while the younger generation studies bunting from the moment that the players first begin to learn the game on the village common.

Canada Cup Contests on Lake Ontario, Aug. 12--The Sitarah.

The Rochester (N. Y.) Yacht club has accepted the challenge of the Royal Canadian Yacht club for the Canada cup, and the competition will take place on Lake Ontario off Charlotte, N. Y., the home of the former club, the series starting Aug. 12.

The trophy is for thirty footers and will be awarded to the winner of three out of five races.

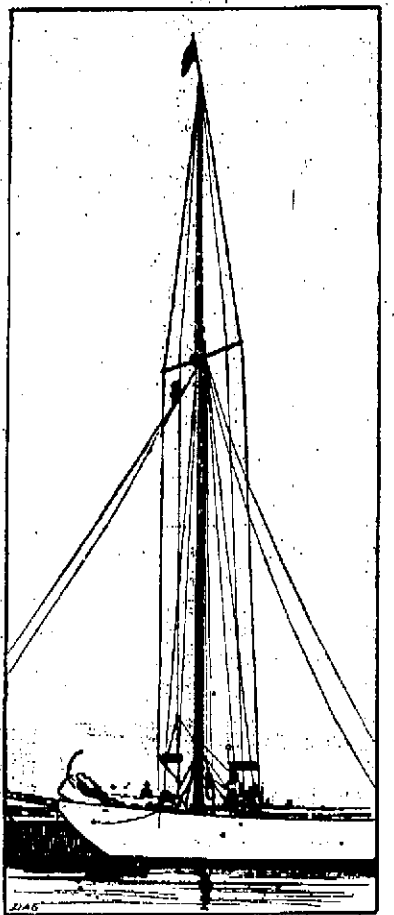

The Canada cup is the gift of the Toledo Yacht club and was first raced for in that city in 1896. The competing boats were Concord of the Lincoln Park club of Chicago and Canada of the Royal Canadian Yacht club of Toronto, the latter boat winning. The cup was then turned over to the Royal Canadian Yacht club as a perpetual international challenge trophy for yacht clubs bordering on the great lakes.

The Chicago Yacht club was the first challenger under the new deed. In the trial races Genesee of the Rochester Yacht club earned the right to sail for the cup and defeated the defender, Beaver. In 1901 the Royal Canadian Yacht club sent a return challenge, and after trial races Cadillac of Detroit was selected by the Chicago Yacht club and Invader by the Canadians. Invader was successful and took the cup back across the border.

Last year the Rochester Yacht club challenged for the Canada cup with Ironduquoit, a forty footer designed by Gardner & Cox. Strachan, an English built yacht, was the defender and the races were sailed off Toronto. It was the hardest fought of all the contests. The Canadian boat won the first two races, after which it change was made in the captain of the Ironduquoit, and she was put in charge of Addison G. Hanan, owner of Aspirant, which last summer won the Astor cup for sloops of the New York Yacht club.

The American boat then won three successive races and the cup.

The racing yawl Sitarah is just now the subject of much comment in Chicago. She was taken to Chicago by R. A. Alger, Jr., from Newark, N. J., where she was the envy of many of eastern yachtsmen.

TREMENDOUSLY HIGH MAST OF RACING YAWL SITARAH.

The Sitarah is of the auxiliary type, ketch rigged, with power developed by a twenty horsepower engine. Her over all length is seventy-six feet and her beam width seventeen feet six inches.

The Sitarah measures fifty-two feet on the water line. Her mast is a veritable skyscraper. It is the most imposing feature of the craft's make-up. The development of the small yacht club, now so conspicuous about the large cities, has all come within twenty, and considerable of it within the last ten years.

To the small yacht club is due in a large measure the popularity of the small boat as a cruising or racing proposition. As a rule the club's location is on a body of water not suited to vessels of considerable size, and its membership consists largely of men who are able to buy and keep a small vessel, but have neither the means nor the desire to become responsible for a large one.

Through the encouragement offered by the small yacht club to men of moderate means to take up the sport the small boat has developed from the few old fashioned rule of thumb built craft of twenty years ago into a score of excellent types, upon which as much thought and science have been expended as upon the largest vessels.

Today, in fact, effort tends in that direction almost to the exclusion of other building. The main idea at the bottom of the small yacht club has been to get together men interested in informal sailing for pleasure purposes, but races have naturally been introduced to add zest, and some of the best filled and most closely contested regattas are now held by the small clubs.

E. G. Lewis Loses in Action to Set Aside Postoffice Injunction.

St. Louis, Mo., July 20.—Judge Smith, McPherson in the United States circuit court handed down a decision upholding the fraud order issued by Postmaster General Cortelyou against the People's United States Bank and E. G. Lewis, president, and denying the application for an injunction to restrain the postmaster in St. Louis from carrying out the instructions of the postmaster general. Postmaster Wyman will now resume stamping "fraudulent" on mail addressed to the bank and to Lewis, and will return it to the senders.

Shot Full of Holes.

"I am 65 years old, and have been a great sufferer from headache all my life. One of Dr. Miles' circulars was left at my door, and what it contained about headache interested me, so that I determined to invest a dollar in their make of shot, and go gunning for that headache. The first charge brought it down, but I continued to shoot until the thing was shot so full of holes that I believe it will never come to life again. I consider it the work of a 'good Samaritan,' to spread the knowledge of what Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will do." I. F. MOORE, 1352 Fairfax Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.

Six Men in Cripple Creek Are Accused of Receiving Stolen Ore.

Cripple Creek, Col., July 20.—Six assayers of this district have been arrested and placed under heavy bonds upon a charge of receiving high-grade ore, knowing it to have been stolen. From a set of books examined in one assaying office it is known that about $30,000 profit was made by the assayers in the last six months. Other books lead the officers to believe that nearly $1,000,000 worth of ore has been stolen in the district every year and disposed of to assay offices.

GENEROUS WITH PENSIONS

One Was Paid in Russia Two Generations After It Should Have Stopped.

A curious fact in regard to Russia came lately to my knowledge, says a writer in Vanity Fair. An old Russian baron died, whom I had known for years, and with him died his pension, so that his widow was left with a very small provision for her old age. She was by birth a German, and had no relations who had influence in Russia.

On making inquiries it was discovered that the greater part of the baron's pension had not really belonged to him, but had been inherited from his aunt, who, in her turn, had inherited it from her father. The original possessor of this pension had earned it by doing excellent service for the empire, and the pension ought to have died with him, but interest was used, and the sum was duly paid out to his daughter.

When she died it was discovered that her nephew was in very unfortunate circumstances, and though he lived in Germany, the pension was then paid out to him, though still in the name of his great-uncle, who had been dead for nearly 50 years.

Noon and High Noon.

Some explanation for the confusion in people's minds as to the right definition of afternoon may be found in the old confusion between noon and midday. Noon, of course, was originally at three o'clock in the afternoon—if the "bull" be permitted—the hour when the monks said their "Nones" or noon song. The reason that it was put back to 12 o'clock may lie in the fact that the monks were not allowed to eat their dinner until after they had said "Nones"; for in time they anticipated the service, and their dinner, by saying Nones immediately after the midday service, and that is probably how midday came to be called noon. In the old almanacs noon is generally marked at midday, and high noon as at three.—London Chronicle.

WHAT THIS MAN SAYS

Only Re-echoes the Sentiment of Thousands in Our Republic.

The Janesville reader is asked to thoroughly investigate the following: gentleman whose statement is published below will only be too pleased to answer any communication mailed to him if the writer really suffers from the annoying consequences which always attend inactive or weakened kidneys.

W. Samp, of 412 Euclid avenue, proprietors of the largest rock quarrying business in Beloit, says: "I had trouble with my kidneys for many years. It consisted most of a lame and aching back, and there were occasions when I had such severe attacks that I could not get out of the house for two or three weeks at a time. I was then practically helpless for it was painful to move. At other times it assumed a milder form, being a dull aching across my kidneys. I used medicines of different kinds but I never found anything that gave the satisfaction that Doan's Kidney Pills did. This remedy is worthy of a high recommendation and it is a pleasure for me to endorse it as doing all that is claimed for it."

IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE

By MIRIAM MICHELSON

(Copyright, 1904, by The Bobbs-Merrill Company.)

CHAPTER XIII.

JUST what I'd been hoping for I don't know, but I knew that my chance had come that morning.

For a week I had been talking Obermuller's comedy to Mason, the secretary. In the evenings I stood about in the wings and watched the Van Twiller company in Brambles. There was one fat role in it that I just ached for, but I lost all that ached and found another, when I overheard two of the women talking about Obermuller and me one night.

"He found her and made her," one of 'em said, "just dug her out of the ground. See what he's done for her; taught her every blessed thing she knows; wrote her mimicking monologues for her; gave her her chance, and—now—Well, Tausig don't pay salaries for nothing, and she gets hers as regularly as I draw mine. What more I don't know. But she hasn't set foot on that stage yet under Tausig, and they say Obermuller—"

I didn't get the rest of it, so I don't know what they say about Obermuller. I only know what they've said to him about me. "Tisn't hard to make men believe those things. But I had to stand it. What could I do? I couldn't tell Fred Obermuller that I was making over his play, soul and as much body as I could remember, to Tausig's secretary. We'd have found that harder to believe than the other thing.

It hasn't been a very happy week for me, I can tell you, Maggie. But I forgot it all, every shiver and ache of it,

YES, THERE IT WAS.

when I came into the office that morning, as usual, and found Mason alone.

Not altogether alone—he had his bottle. And he had had it and others of the same family all the night before. The poor drunken wretch hadn't been home at all. He was worse than he'd been that morning three days before, when I had stood facing him and talking to him, while with my hands behind my back I was taking a wax impression of the lock of the desk; and he was unconscious of it all as Tausig himself.

The last page I had dictated the day before, which he'd been transcribing from his notes, lay in front of him; the gas was still burning brightly above him, and a shade he wore over his weak eyes had been knocked away as his poor old bald head went bumping down on the type-writer before him.

The thing that favored me was Tausig's distrust of everybody connected with him. He hates his partners only a bit less than he hates the men outside the trust. The bigger and richer the syndicate grows, the more power and prosperity it has, the more he begrudges them their share of it; the more he wants it all for himself. He is madly suspicious of his clerks, and hires others to watch them, to spy upon them. He is continually moving his valuables from place to place, partly because he trusts no man, partly because he's so deathly afraid his right hand will find out what his left is doing. He is a full partner of Braun and Lowenthal, with mental reservations. He has no confidence in either of them. Half his schemes he keeps from them; the other half he tells them—part of. He's forever afraid that the syndicate of which he's the head will fall to pieces and become another syndicate of which he won't be head.

It all makes him an unhappy, restless little beast; but it helped me to-day. If it'd been any question of safe combinations and tangled things like that, the game would have been all up for Nancy O. But in his official safe Tausig keeps only such papers as he wants Braun and Lowenthal to see. And in his private desk in his private office he keeps—

I stole past Mason, sleeping with his forehead on the typewriter keys—he'll be lettered like the obelisk when he wakes up—and crept into the next room to see just what Tausig keeps in that private desk of his.

Oh, yes, it was locked. But hadn't I been carrying the key to it every minute for the last 48 hours? There must be a mine of stuff in that desk of Tausig's, Mag. The touch of every paper in it is slimy with some dirty trick, some bad secret, some mean action. It's a pity that I hadn't time to go through 'em all; it would have been interesting; but under a bundle of women's letters, which that old fox keeps for no good reason, I'll bet, I lit on a paper that made my heart go bumping like a cart over cobbles.

Yes, there it was, just as Obermuller had vowed it was, with Tausig's every woman she meets will understand.

I did, all right. She was saying to me as she kicked out her soft, heelless little boot:

"Nancy Olden, I choose you. Nancy Olden, I love you. Nancy Olden, I dare you not to love me. Nancy Olden, I defy you not to laugh back at me!"

Where in the world she dropped from, heaven knows. The organ grinder picked up the shafts of his wagon and trundled it away. The pickaninies melted like magic. But that gay little flirt, about a year and a half old, just held on to my finger and gabbed—poetry.

I didn't realize just then that she was a lost, strayed or stolen. I expected every moment some nurse or conceited mamma to appear and drag her away from me. And I looked down at her—oh, she was just a little bunch of soft stuff; her face was a giggling dimple, framed in a big round halo, that had fallen from her chicken-blond head; and her white dress, with the blue ribbons at the shoulders, was just a little bit dirty. I like 'em a little bit dirty. Why? Perhaps because I can imagine having a little coquette of my own a little bit dirty like that, and can't just see Nancy Olden with a spick-and-span clean baby, all feathers and lace, like a bored little grown-up.

"You're a mouse," I gurgled down at her. "You're a sweetheart. You're a—"

And suddenly I heard a cry and rush behind me.

It was a false alarm; just a long-legged girl of 12 rushing round the corner, followed by a lot of others. It hadn't been meant for me, of course, but in the second when I had remembered that precious paper and Tausig's rage when he should miss it, I had pulled my hand away from that bit baby's and started to run.

The poor little tot! There isn't any reason in the world for the fancies they take any more than for our own; eh, Mag? Why should she have been attracted to me just because I was so ungratified as to dance with the pickaninies?

But do you know what that little thing did? She thought I was playing with her. She gave a crow of delight and came bowling after me.

That finished me. I stooped and picked her up in my arms, throwing her up in the air to hear her crow and feel her come down again.

"Mouse," I said, "we'll just have a little trip together. The nurse that'd lose you deserves to worry till you're found. The mother that's lucky enough to own you will be benefited hereafter by a sharp scare on your account just now. Come on, sweetheart!"

Oh, the feel of a baby in your arms, Mag! It makes the Cruelty seem a perfectly unreal thing, a thing one should be unutterably ashamed of imagining, of accusing human nature of; a thing only an irredeemably vile thing could imagine. Just the weight of that little body riding like a bonny boat at anchor on your arm, just the cocky little way it sits up, chirping and confident; just the light touch of a bit of a hand on your collar; just that is enough to push down brick walls; to destroy pictures of bruised and maimed children that endure after the injuries are healed; to scatter records that even I—I, Nancy Olden—can't believe and believe; too, that other women have carried their babies, as I did some other woman's baby, across the square.

On the other side I set her down. I didn't want to. I was greedy of every moment that I had her. But I wanted to get some change ready before climbing up the steps to the L. station.

She clutched my dress as we stood there a minute in a perfectly irresistible way. I know now why men marry baby-women; it's to feel that delicious, helpless clutch of weak fingers; the clutch of dependence, of trust, of appeal.

I looked down at her with that same silly adoration I've seen on Molly's face for her poor, lacking, twisted boy. At least, I did in the beginning. But gradually the expression of my face must have changed; for all at once I discovered what had been done to me.

My purse was gone.

Yes, Maggie Monahan, clean gone! My pocket had been as neatly pleaned as I myself—well, never mind, as what I threw back my head and laughed aloud. Nancy Olden, the great doer-up, had been done up so cleverly, so surely, so prettily, that she hadn't had an inkling of it.

I wished I could get a glimpse of the clever girl that did it. A girl—of course, it was! Do you think any boy's fingers could do a job like that and not even know?

But I didn't stop to wish very long. Here was I with the thing I valued most in the world still clutched in my hand, and not a nickel to my name to get me, the paper, and the baby, on our way.

It was the baby, of course, that decided me. You can't be very enterprising when you're carrying a pink lump of sweetness that's all a smile at the moment, but may get all a tear the next. "It's you for the nearest police station, you young tough!" I said, squeezing her. "I can't take you home now and show you to Mag."

But she giggled and gurgled back at me, the abandoned thing, as though the police station was just the properest place for a young lady of her years.

It was not so very near, either, that station. My arm ached when I got there from carrying her, but my heart ached, too, to leave her. I told the matron how and where the little thing had picked me up. At first she wouldn't leave me, but—the little thing—a glass of milk transferred all her smiles and wiles to the matron. Then we went over her clothes to find a name or an initial or a laundry mark. But we found nothing. The matron offered me a glass of milk, too, but I was in a hurry to be gone. She was a nice matron, so nice that I was just about to ask her for the loan of carfare when—

When I heard a voice, Maggie, in the office adjoining. I knew that voice all right, and I knew that I had to make a decision quick. I did. I threw the whole thing into the lap of Fate. And when I opened the door and faced him I was smiling. Oh, yes, it was Tausig.

LIKE OLD COACHING DAYS.

New Yorkers Reestablish a Custom That Was Abandoned in 1855.

When several New York men began driving their coaches from New York to Belmont Park they made arrangements to change horses at the old tavern at Flushing, L. I. In so doing, says the Sun, they reestablished a custom which ceased to exist about 1855. For almost a century up to that time the old tavern had been one of the important coaching stations in the vicinity of New York.

The first stage route from Flushing to New York and Brooklyn started from the door of this old tavern. There were few inhabitants then to the east of Flushing, and all who wanted to make the trip came as far as that village on horseback. The mail for the north shore of Long Island was brought to this tavern and from here men on horseback went east as far as Oyster Bay.

The route from Flushing was to Newtown, thence to Bedford, then to Brooklyn and across the ferry into New York, where the stopping-place was at Chatham Square.

Just in front of the tavern door was the whipping post of Flushing town. When the New Yorkers came here on their way to the races some of them took particular interest in locating the exact spot where the whipping post had stood. The old tavern stands to-day much as it did when Washington was a guest there. It has low ceilings, great rambling hallways and rooms so large that a guest feels lonely. In the tap-room behind the bar can still be seen some of the queer old flip-glasses with fluted or engraved sides that were used a century ago.

LIVES DEARER THAN OUR VERY OWN

How many lives dearer to us than our very own have been placed in needless jeopardy by failure to provide against and forestall the great suffering which too frequently accompanies and follows the bearing of children? That we would do anything within our power to obviate the possibility of such an happening is too patent to admit of question; therefore—mark well this fact—a liniment, by name, has been devised, whose function it is to prepare in advance the muscles and tissues intimately associated with parturition. This liniment is for external application. By its use the parts are relaxed and enabled to withstand not only the actual strain brought to bear on them during accouchement, but also to rally from this ordeal and speedily regain their normal proportions and tonicity. It is not irritating to the most sensitive surfaces, and is applicable to all cases. It's not enough to call it Mother's Friend—it's the friend of the whole family. $1.00, all druggists. WILSON FAVORS HIGHER SALARY

MOTHER'S FRIEND

Holds That Chief Statistician
Should Be Placed Beyond
Temptation.

TAKES CHARGE OF THE BUREAU

Secretary of Agriculture Will Supervise Crop Reports Until He Secures Services of Graft and Scandal Proof Man.

Washington, July 20.—Secretary Wilson has concluded that the salary paid the chief statistician of the agricultural department is not large enough to induce a man above suspicion to accept the office, and will recommend that congress increase the pay from $3,500 to $5,000. He wants a graft-proof statistician, and until congress acts will hold himself personally responsible for the crop reports, having declared that if any further scandal crops out the charges must be leveled at him.

There will be no hurry about appointing a successor to Hyde until congress has authorized an increase in the pay of the statistician. In the meantime it is expected that President Roosevelt and the secretary will have ample time to scour the country for a high grade man.

Plans Complete Reorganization.

There will be a complete reorganization of the statistical bureau by Assistant Secretary Hayes, if he decides, after investigation, that such a course is necessary. President Roosevelt, in agreeing to the temporary appointment of Mr. Hayes, decided to give him full powers in the premises to do everything in his power to remove the stigma placed on the bureau by the cotton leak scandal. He has been advised that he may have what clerical force he needs and that any clerks whose services are undesirable may be dismissed without delay. In view of these powers conferred upon the new official, there will be a complete reorganization of the bureau, as well as a radical change in the methods of compiling the report.

To Defy Suspicion.

Mr. Wilson desires to give notice to the country that when he appoints a successor to Mr. Hyde he will be a person who has no connection whatever with the stock jobbers, and before a selection is made it will be approved by the president.

Mr. Wilson has not yet finally decided whether there will be a new June crop report issued. He is anxious to have this done, but there is a lack of funds, and the agents who perform this duty are now engaged on other work. The question has been referred to Assistant Secretary Hayes for his decision.

A rumor has been circulated that when congress assembles a movement will be started to have the crop gathering bureau transferred to the department of commerce and labor in order to secure a more complete reorganization.

Senator Dolliver of Iowa, a warm personal friend of Secretary Wilson, is slated for the chairmanship of the senate committee on agriculture. He has made a study of the methods of crop reporting, and it is known that he is opposed unalterably to any change of the character suggested.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION KILLS MINERS IN IOWA

Believing Spouse Was Paying Too
Much Attention to Her Sister,
Woman Sought Revenge.

New York, July 20.—Believing the loss of his son would be the most cruel blow she could inflict on her husband, Mrs. Anna Gades, 34 years old, of Williamsburg, in a fit of jealous anger stabbed and killed her 13-month-old child, Hans.

The woman clasped the child in her arms as she lay on the bed suffering with heat. Grasping the long knife in her hand, she ran it through the child.

For several weeks the woman had acted strangely. She quarreled often with her husband, and openly accused him of paying attention to her sister, who lives in Bronx. She imagined her husband and sister were conspiring to steal her son from her.

When Gades came home from his work his wife and child were missing. He searched for them, and about midnight found her in a near by park. He persuaded his wife to return. Gades sat by a window and his wife went to a bedroom in their little flat. He fell asleep, and it was the next morning when he was awakened by groans. Running to the bedroom he found the woman crouching beside the bed on which lay the body of his only child. Grasping his wife by the arm, Gades attempted to take the knife from her. She turned on him, and in the struggle for the weapon he was cut on his hands.

Gades ran to the street and called for help. Policeman Costello responded and called an ambulance. The boy's body was taken to the station house and the mother was locked up. "There was no reason to kill Hans," she told the sergeant, "when I could not get a chance to kill my husband, because he watched me so closely. I had to kill his son for revenge. I hated to kill the boy, but I wanted to make his father wretched."

Two Men are Blown to Pieces When the Treacherous Stuff is Touched Off by Lightning.

Des Moines, Ia., July 20.—Five miners were blown to pieces by the explosion of twenty-five pounds of dynamite in a storage powder house at the West Riverside coal mine, two miles west of the city, at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning. The dead are: Charles Brown, Luke Miller, Harry Belknap, Dell Vance, George Arrowood.

Heads, arms and limbs were scattered around for a distance of 500 feet. Not a soul knew of the explosion until the appearance of the day shift at 6:30, when the horrible spectacle presented itself. The men, five in number, were engaged in sinking a new shaft and during the early morning hour a severe rainstorm came up, which compelled the men to stop work.

They sought shelter from the storm in the powder house. While in the house the lightning struck a tree near the building and from there ran to the house, igniting the dynamite as well as two kegs of powder.

Not a piece of wood larger than a foot long remains of the building. The nearest house is 800 feet away and the inmates knew nothing of the accident, attributing the noise to the bolt of lightning.

Some of the bodies are so badly disfigured that identification is impossible.

SCHEME OF BOOK AGENTS.

Travel in Pairs and One Introduces the Other to Intended Victim.

The latest wrinkle invented by book agents in order to circumvent the vigilance of office boys and get past the guarded doors of business offices was tried the other day in one of the large brokerage houses in Broad street, relates the New York Sun.

Instead of one agent calling, and endeavoring to gain admission into the inner offices two young men called and asked to see Mr. Blank. When Mr. Blank came out one of the young men introduced himself as assistant secretary of one of the prominent yacht clubs. As Mr. Blank is an enthusiast on yachting he was glad to see the young man.

After the conversation had gone on for a few minutes the young man introduced his friend and said that he was connected with one of the big publishing houses, and if ever Mr. Blank wanted any books his friend could get a reduction for him.

The second young man immediately produced the sample books and bindings usually carried by book agents and started in to tell about the fine books his house was carrying. When he had finished speaking the first young man started in to corroborate him, but at this point the broker smelled a rat and excused himself for a few minutes.

At the last report the young men were still waiting for him to come out.

AN IMPRESSION AT HOME.

Delightfully Ingenious Scheme of a Writer for Getting His Name Up.

A man from some obscure town in California, whose effusions had been repeatedly rejected, invented this delightfully ingenious scheme for making his friends believe that at last he had found his way into the magazines, relates the Bookman. In forwarding his manuscript he wrote to the editor thus:

"Dear Sir: This is a small place where I live, and whenever a story of mine comes back the whole village knows it. Now, I know you don't want the enclosed manuscript, but I'm sending it along, just the same, together with a post card, which I beg you to return to me. The postmistress will read it, of course, and I need not tell you that within three hours the news of what is on it will be all over town. I will know when it comes that my manuscript is rejected, and you need never return it to me. But please mail the card to me, and win my everlasting gratitude."

The postcard had been carefully typewritten and self-addressed. It bore these words:

"Dear Sir: Your manuscript received, and accepted. Will write you fully regarding it as soon as possible. Is $100 a satisfactory price? Yours truly, Publishing Company."
